Distribute Literature On Liquor Plebiscite

LAC LA BICHE — Two representatives from the citizens' Plebiscite Organization were in town for a short time last week to arrange for distribution of literature on the subject of the plebiscite to be held Oct. 30 regarding additional outlets for beer, wine and spirituous liquor. Mr. W. W. McNaughton and Mr. Roger Kirk, who are voluntary organizers for the group had time for only a short stay in town, but plans were made for distribution of literature throughout the district through the co-operation of the local churches.

In speaking against the free use of intoxicating beverages, Mr. McNaughton said that since drinking in restaurants was introduced in Ontario and British Columbia the rate of alcoholics per 1,000 has increased quite out of proportion to the increase in population. He said it is claimed that easier access to beverage alcohol by the glass would bring about reduced and more temperate drinking with less drunkenness and less alcoholism, but the facts prove the opposite to be true wherever it has been given a fair trial. He argued that with easier procurement of alcoholic beverages the young people being exposed to drinking in public places would certainly increase a problem which is already out of hand. The organization is urging everyone, whether moderate drinker or non-drinker, to get out and vote "No" on Oct. 30.

Funeral Rites For Isaac Ostiguy

LAC LA BICHE—Funeral services for Isaac Ostiguy were held Aug. 28 in the St. Catherine's Roman Catholic Church, the Rev. Father McGrane officiating. Interment was at the Lac la Biche Mission. Mr. Ostiguy, who celebrated his 84th birthday June 7, came from Vegreville in 1910 to the Egg Lake district where he was the first to take up homestead land.

In 1929, he and his family moved to the town of Lac la Biche where he lived until entering the St. Albert home for the aged a few years ago.

Left to mourn his passing are his loving wife, two sons, Armand, Edmonton; Carmel, Egg Lake; daughter, Mrs. Louis Lemay, Berny; two step sons, Lawrence and Leo L'Heureux, and one stepdaughter, Mrs. George Langevin. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family.

W.I. To Canvass For Poppy Fund

LAC LA BICHE — The October meeting of the Women's Institute, held at the home of Mrs. Marshall Hamar, featured a 5 cent bingo which was thoroughly enjoyed by the 14 members and five visitors present. Mrs. Lionel Vincent was welcomed as a new member in our branch.

The members voted a $10.00 donation to the Red Shield appeal of the Salvation Army and a similar amount to the appeal for funds made by the Unitarian Service committee.

In response to a letter from the Lac la Biche branch of the Canadian Legion, it was decided to conduct the Poppy campaign for the Legion. This campaign will be carried out voluntarily as all canvassing done by the Women's Institute is done on this basis.

The canvassers will be on the streets both Friday and Saturday previous to Armistice day. Volunteers are Mrs. Maccagno and Mrs. L. Badry, and Mrs. Kolstad and Mrs. Wolstenholme.

Mrs. Marshall Hamar, canvassing convener, reported that a total of $116.95 had been collected in behalf of the Canadian National Institute of the Blind. Canvassers were Mrs. Creighton, Mrs. Booker, Mrs. Coast and Mrs. Linnell.

The library convener reported that the library has been moved to more comfortable quarters in the town hall.

Congratulations were extended to Mrs. H. Linnell on the occasion of her son Maurice being awarded the Governor-General's medal.

November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Woynorawich with Mrs. R. S. H. Greene acting as co-hostess.

Mrs. M. Hamar and co-hostess Mrs. J. Zaluzny served a delicious lunch at the conclusion of the evening.

Flu Reaches Epidemic Proportions In Lac la Biche And District

LAC LA BICHE — Until the past week only isolated cases of flu were reported in the town and district but since the Thanksgiving weekend it seems to have reached epidemic proportions.

Out of an enrollment of 30 pupils in the grade 11 room, three were on hand for classes Tuesday morning. One bus coming from south of town generally carrying 40 children, had four in the middle of the week. Out of 10 teachers on the staff at the small school, six were away at one time.

The staffs of many businesses are deleted. The Home and School annual meeting was postponed because of the poor turnout; due to the flu. In some households in the district the whole family except for one or two were ill at the same time, with neighbors coming in to care for the sick and do the chores. Many communities are experiencing the same thing.

It is reported that at a Children's Home near Wetaskiwin, where 56 children are cared for by a staff of 10 or 12, when the flu struck, 45 were down in bed at one time, including all the staff except three.

At the University of Alberta, the infirmary was full and extra beds were set up in one of the lounges to accommodate the students suffering from the flu. Doctors and nurses gave them the same care they would have received in the infirmary.

Hunters Busy Despite Mud

PLAMONDON — In spite of bad roads and plenty of mud, the hunting season was much in evidence around the district last weekend, when three trailers parked here with their families and dogs. The hunters reported ducks were plentiful in some areas, but road conditions made it almost impossible to get out to the areas with cars. Occupants of the trailers were Edmonton residents.

Some of the hunters, who did a little visiting with friends here were Mr. and Mrs. Vince Martin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Honey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Martin and son, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Martin and family, all of Edmonton. Roland Vincent and Jimmy Stewart and son were also seen doing a little hunting.

Churches Decorated For Harvest Services

Harvest services held recently in St. Peter's Mission were well attended at all points. Before services the parishioners worked hard in the decorating of the churches with fruit, vegetables, flowers, wheat, corn and the other products of the harvest.

The choir of St. Andrew's church in Lac la Biche prepared special music for the occasion. After leading the music at St. Andrew's church in Lac la Biche in the morning they journeyed south to Rich Lake in the afternoon to help with the service there. They were accompanied by their organist, Miss Nita Senetza who also played the organ at Lac la Biche.

After the Rich Lake Service, the congregation listened to a recital of German Chorales, played on the church organ by Mr. Hans Asberg, octogenarian pioneer of the district.

At Christ Church, Wandering River, the people had their church well scrubbed, polished and tastefully decorated for the harvest service. Priest in charge of St. Peter's Mission is the Rev. R. S. H. Greene of Lac la Biche.

Fortunately, when the covered wagon ahead of them stopped, the forty-niners couldn't start honking the horns of their oxen.—Wall Street Journal.

Basement Completed By Voluntary Labor

LAC LA BICHE — Taking advantage of the weekly half holiday, a number of men of the United church got together last Thursday afternoon to pour the concrete for the basement of the new manse which is being built.

Although some of those shoveling gravel and pushing wheelbarrows would doubtless have felt more at home pushing fountain pens, the fact was not at all noticeable in the smooth and efficient way the project was completed. The church board hopes to get the building enclosed before the cold weather sets in.

DISTRICT AGRICULTURIST NOTES

By J. S. LORE

With release to the public of the first fifty boars of the Lacombe breed on October 7 another goal in the livestock program of Canada's Experimental Farm Service has been attained. It is not without significance that in the comparatively short space of ten years an entirely new race of swine has been produced—a race tailored for a specific purpose, to provide a medium for the controlled and gainful use of hybrid vigour in Canadian swine production.

This feat speaks well, not only for the advance of the biological science in recent years, but also for the efforts of the men who produced the Lacombe breed. The names of Superintendent J. G. Stothart and Dr. H. T. Fredeen will be recalled at this time. But it takes more than good breeding to produce prime quality market hogs and these research men at the Lacombe Experimental Farm are among the first to point out breeding is only one part of efficient swine production. The best breeding stock available will not produce high quality market hogs efficiently unless fed reasonably good rations.

Tests at Lacombe and elsewhere have proved conclusively that grain alone is poor pig ration. It needs the addition of supplements containing proteins, minerals and vitamins. The balanced ration will not only make better bacon faster but it will do the job more efficiently. Similarly, the best breeding, along with the best feeding will not produce the results desired without sound management. This is particularly important in the feeding, housing and exercise provided for breeding stock and for pregnant and nursing sows.

They take the stand, these research men, that strong, thrifty weaner pigs which should weigh 30 to 40 pounds or more at weaning, are the result of good breeding stock properly fed and managed at all times. They suggest that the comparatively recent increase in use of good creep feed has also meant a great deal in the production of strong, thrifty weaner pigs. Such pigs can proceed to full feed immediately after weaning with little or no set-back, and go to market at around 6 months of age instead of the 7 or 8 months required for pigs that are light and unthrifty at weaning.

In my observations in this district a large percentage of the young pigs are stunted before or at weaning time simply because they were fed a ration too high on fibre. The digestive system of a small pig is very tender and cannot handle very many oat hulls or a large amount of grass. The little pigs should be given a creep ration separate from the sow at 2 to 3 weeks of age so that they do not start feeding on the feed the sow receives. If more than one-third oats is used in the ration, it should be sifted. It should be born in mind that when the pig is young that it eats very little and that is the age when the greatest benefits will be derived from feeding a good quality ration.

Breeding provides the basis, the research men say, but the accumulated knowledge on feeding and management must be applied if the full benefits of good foundation stock are to be achieved.

TAKE A CLOSE LOOK AT THE LIQUOR QUESTION!

"Should additional types of outlets for the sale of beer, wine and spirituous liquors be permitted if such outlets are later approved by local vote?"

This question will appear on your ballot when you vote on the liquor plebiscite. It has been very carefully phrased to secure a public expression of opinion on a vital issue - whether the present liquor laws are in line with your present-day thinking.

The Alberta Hotel Association feels that the last few words of the ballot are of special importance. They make it clear that if the Liquor Control Act is amended, any new type of outlet will still be subject to a local vote before being introduced into your Community.

What types of liquor outlets may you expect to vote on locally? In its Brief to the Legislature's Special Liquor Committee, The Alberta Hotel Association suggested that if amendments are to be made in the Liquor Act the following be considered:

- Liquor Licenses for Dining Rooms of an obviously high standard.
- Cocktail Lounges in hotels with suitable administrative restrictions as to number and character of hotels where liquor may be sold.

When we made these suggestions, it was with complete confidence in the Alberta Government's administration of the Liquor Control Act. We feel that fears expressed on the question of new types of outlets are exaggerated. Any new outlets for the sale of liquor would, we are sure, be controlled by legal restrictions.

The Plebiscite is being held because your views on this question are important - vitally important! The present Liquor Control Act is based on a Plebiscite held thirty-four years ago. Governments hesitate to change laws unless demanded by a special public vote. Your decision NOW will affect Alberta's liquor laws for many years to come.

You have been asked to give your opinion . . . GIVE IT by casting your Vote on October 30th!

GET OUT AND VOTE

on the Liquor Plebiscite!

Queen Reads Speech From Throne To Open Canada's Historic Session

OTTAWA (BUP) — The Queen opened Canada's historical 23rd session of parliament by reading the speech from the throne. The speech read by the Queen disclosed the Conservative government's intention to increase old age pensions, give cash advances to prairie wheat growers, stabilize prices for farmers and changes what it called "taxing statutes".

There was no specific announcement of the government's intention to lower personal income taxes. The speech stated only that changes will be made in the tax statutes.

The ambitious Conservative program called for a wilder market for Canadian fisheries products. The government also plans to implement a national development policy for Canadian resources, a special development program for the Atlantic provinces, an early start on the South Saskatchewan Dam project and a settlement of the Columbia River problem in British Columbia.

The government intends to shorten the period of residence required to qualify for old age pension. Payments to the provincial government will be increased so that they in turn may increase assistance given under the Old Age Assistant Act, the Blind Persons Act and the Disabled Persons. Act.

War veterans pensions will be increased and the group to which they may be paid enlarged.

As well as seeking new markets for Canadian fisheries, the government pledged itself to promote the development of international rules to safeguard the living resources of the sea.

The cash advances were mainly for prairie grain farmers. Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced some time ago he intended to introduce such a measure.

The Atlantic provinces are to be given immediate assistance in the creation of facilities for the production and transmission of cheaper electrical power. The government will provide assistance in particular for the Beechwood Power Project now under construction in New Brunswick.

The Saskatchewan Dam project is part of the national development program. The idea that the dam is to provide better irrigation for the southern half of the province is not a new one, having been before the former Liberal government for the past few years.

The Columbia River project has been under discussion for some time by a Canadian-United States commission. The government said it is pressing for a favorable settlement of the international aspect in order to clear the way for a program with the government of British Columbia to develop the immense power of the river.

The only labor legislation mentioned in the speech was the introduction of a bill to provide workers under federal jurisdiction with annual vacations with pay.

More power to you

There was a time when I was always out of pocket because of carrying charges. You know how it is. My wife and I would see something we'd like for the home, so I'd buy it the easy way . . . or so I thought. Actually, I always finished up paying more than I had to. But, I smartened up. Know what I do now? I save for the things we want, at Imperial Bank of Canada. While I'm saving, my money earns me interest and, of course, I end up saving more money simply because I buy with cash. If you're one of the smart ones who saves for what he wants, more power to you.

Remember—when you buy on time, you pay interest.
When you save at Imperial, we pay you interest.

School Transport Brings Problems

McRAE — For the past week, children have been unable to attend school at Sugden.

Word was received that if the children were taken to Sugden by their parents they would be accommodated at the homes of Sugden residents until the school bus was able to travel again.

Many parents disapproved of this plan as, they feel, the majority of children are too young to be separated from their homes to live with strangers.

Since the teachers' residence has been moved to Sugden and the school has been put up for sale, there has seemed little choice for the parents. They must either wait for the bus to return to service or send their children to Sugden homes during the school days.

Steve Holdis, who has been working at Slave Lake for over a year, has returned to Grassland and is staying with his son, Walter Holdis.

Flu is still rampant in the district and some classrooms are closed owing to the illness of teachers and pupils.

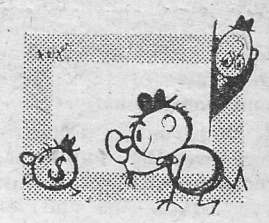
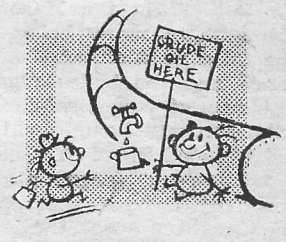
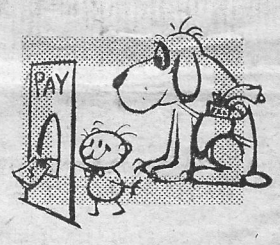
where the income dollar goes



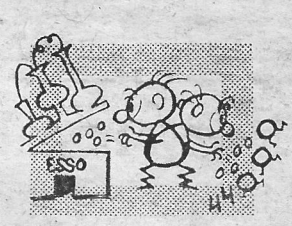
In supplying hundreds of different oil products to Canadian consumers from coast to coast, Imperial last year took in a large number of dollars. What happened to a typical dollar?



Well, nearly 56 cents went to buy raw materials—notably crude oil—and for freight, a big item in a big country.



More than 26 cents went for operating and administrative costs, including wages and salaries, and for depreciation. Ten cents of each dollar went to various governments in taxes (this does not include the provincial gasoline tax.)



Half of what was left —or about 4 cents— was put back into the company's operations. The other half was divided among Imperial's 44,000 shareholders, whose investment makes possible the company's existence.
